COURSE SYNOPSIS

Modern construction contracts, procurement methods, project management structures, planning and management techniques, as well as building material sciences and technology, together give rise to ever more complex relationships, risks and liabilities between contractors, principals, financiers, and real estate and construction industry professionals. As the construction industry and its surrounding marketplace matures, the nature of claims and legal disputes that arise from construction projects have correspondingly become more sophisticated. In this light, the role of the expert is indispensable in assisting judges, arbitrators, lawyers and their clients in arbitration proceedings, specialised tribunal hearings, expert determinations and adjudications.

The Singapore Institute of Surveyors and Valuers (SISV) is proud to bring to you this accredited two-day training workshop, culminating in a written assessment which provides industry certification of achievement to the successful candidate. This workshop focuses on the issues and must-know facts that concern today's construction expert. Conducting the workshop are guest speakers and tutors from international and Singapore based law firms, as well as renowned international project consultants and managers. Subject to other admission criteria, successful completion of the programme will qualify participants to be admitted to the SISV Panel of Expert Witnesses.

COURSE DIRECTOR

Glenn Cheng is a partner of the Singapore office of Nabarro LLP where he specialises in the areas of oil and gas, civil and marine engineering, on and off shore infrastructure, general engineering and building projects. He has appeared as counsel, solicitor, and arbitrator in international arbitrations conducted under various institutional rules including those of the CIETEC, ICC, LCIA, SIA, SIAC, and UNCITRAL.
